"A Moment Of Youth"

A person is only young once. During that time he is expected to develop qualities that will be beneficial to him in the years to come. Schools are the foundation upon which this solid future is based; however, today's schools are not for book learning alone, they are educational centers with numerous extracurricular activities designed to produce a well rounded individual.

Upon graduation from high school, a student forgets his childhood pranks and teen-age fads and begins to realize his responsibilities as an adult in today's everchanging world. Although his days as a youngster may be over, their importance will never die because a moment of youth is immeasurable as well as unforgettable.

These are just a few examples of the many moments of youth today's youngsters experience. Each moment in their lives is filled with youthful excitement. Their time is valuable because their moments of youth are fleeting. In this yearbook we have attempted to capture these moments of youth so that the people of tomorrow will be able to look back to the year 1967 and see what the life of a typical American youth was really like.

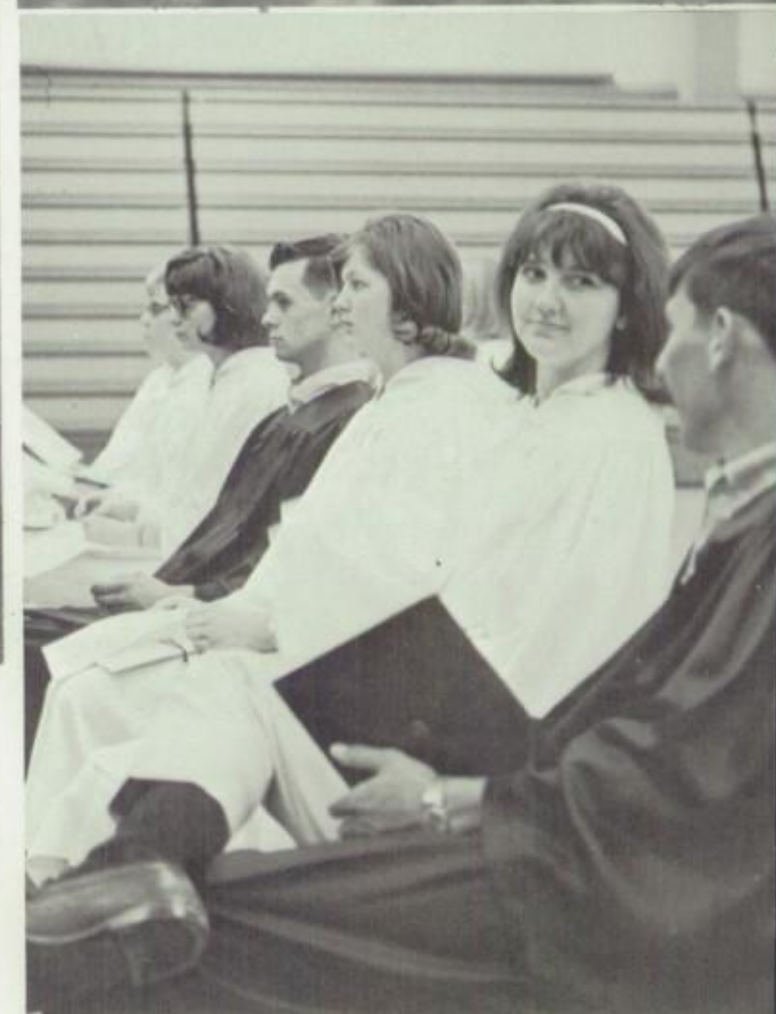

STUDENT LIFE

Aside from seeking further knowledge and preparing for the future, Pleasant's students stepped out into the world socially. Starting in the fall with the reign of the annual homecoming queen, many school activities provided exciting entertainment for all the students. The senior play, The Red House Mystery, and the junior play, You Can't Kiss Caroline, featured the theatrical talents of both classes. Another annual production, the Talent Show, sponsored by the Student Council, furnished its audience with top notch high school talent. Climaxing the special events, the juniors presented their prom with a tropical charm all its own. 1966-67 had been a busy year in the life of each student, but it had been worth every moment of it.

Maria Cristina Pardo

This young lady has the remarkable distinction of being Pleasant's very first foreign exchange student.

After graduation in Colombia, South America, she traveled to the United States to enter Pleasant as a senior. During her visit from November to January, she was a guest in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. George Perlick and Mr. and Mrs. William P. Smith.

Her sunny smile and pleasing disposition made the days she spent at Pleasant enjoyable for everyone.

ORGANIZATIONS

Whether in flying snow or blazing sun, some organization is sure to be busy working. Loyal membership in a school organization has always meant a great deal to students. There are clubs organized for service and for fun, those affiliated with national and international organizations, and those competing within themselves. Each of Pleasant's clubs has a definite purpose - to acquaint students with possible professions, to honor the students' scholastic achievements, to record the news and activities at school, or to plan the general activities of the student body. The character and personality of each individual student is best portrayed through the activities in which he participates.

SPORTS

The spirit of sports is in a touchdown, a jumpshot, or a smashing home run which brings a crowd to its feet with wild excitement. Pride swells in the mother or father whose son has just scored. The real thrill, however, is in the player himself. The feat performed is a reward for hours of hard practice; it brings about a feeling of accomplishment. It is a dream come true, a dream from childhood, perhaps, of scoring the deciding points in a victory. From this pride and excitement is built a fortress against the unknown, the future. The athlete's moral attitude is formed through I want to, I can, I will.

Varsity Basketball

Moments like these led Coach Stan Kirby and his 1966-67 Spartans to the undisputed Marion County championship and co-championship of the N.C.C.

During tournament action PHS captured the sectional crown and the runners-up trophy in Columbus District play.

PEOPLE

The spirit of association is continuously varying throughout the lifetime of an individual. The everchanging pattern of life never ceases to produce new acquaintances. The kids in the neighborhood, the guys on the team, the girls in the club, the dedicated teachers and leaders, and that special someone make up each person's acquaintances and true friends during the golden years of school. It is this fellowship and these ideals which accompany the student the rest of his life. These people are also the ones who have introduced him to the true meaning of friendship and have given him a better understanding of the people who constitute the world.

They guide students toward their achievements. They demonstrate thoughtfulness, generosity, and good fellowship. They are indispensable in time of need. These are the attributes of Pleasant's administration.

As the school year opened, there was a restraint between the faculty and the students. As the year progressed, the teachers gained the students' respect and admiration. The faculty influenced the students' personalities, helped to develop their ideals, and guided them in their thinking.

Days grew longer for most students at the start of the second semester, but to seniors the hours flew on swift wings. Proud members of the graduating class of 1967 received their diplomas and many congratulations at Commencement ceremonies. In dark blue and white gowns, an impressive group marched out of the gymnasium and bade their fond farewell to the hallowed halls of Pleasant High School.

Elementary

During 1966-67 Pleasant elementary students and their teachers led an active life. Teachers strove to advance their students' education, and the students responded with a willingness to learn. This was the first year for the elementary reading center instructed by Mrs. Marian Barbey and for the participation of elementary boys in the high school basketball program.

THOUGHTS FOR THE 1967 GRADUATE

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding. Prov. 4:7

"Based on my experiences, in many lands, with peoples of widely varying characteristics and customs, I reject this secular concept of the nature of the universe, and how it is ordered, and the nature of man and his place in that universe. I hold that those basically spiritual values, patriotism, piety, honor, love, duty, charity, and personal responsibility, which can neither be observed by the senses nor measured by instruments, constitute the most powerful of those forces which, in the years to come, will shape the character of our world and of its peoples!"
